CAPONE CHECK TO RUM RINGS VALUABLE CLUE

Investigators Believe It May "Blow Things Wide Open" Soon

New York, Oct. 19 —(AP)— A check for $1,500 signed by Al Capone, Chicago gang leader, was being sought today among the documents seized by federal authorities in their raid on the headquarters of the Atlantic coast rum smuggling syndicate.

James E. Wilkinson, Assistant U S. Attorney in Brooklyn, said payment had been stopped on the check which was made out to a member of the syndicate and sent last month He said he did not know how Capone sent it from the jail in Philadelphia, where he is serving a year's sentence for carrying concealed weapons.

One official said that although the Capone check was a slender link its potential possobilities of revealing the ramifications of the syndicate's operations were such that, if it developed, it would "blow things wide open."

Investigate Kidnaping

Federal authorities professed to see another possible connection between Capone's gangsters and the syndicate in the mysterious kidnaping last June of Willard H. Elliott Vice President of the Hobart Trust Company of Passaic, N. J. When Elliott returned after six days he coul dnot explain his kidnaping but described his abductors as "Chicago gangsters."

Two representatives of the United States Attorney's office at Trenton went to Passaic to investigate the possibility that Elliott had been held in connection with efforts to force financial aid from his bank for the smuggling operations.

Cities Seek Part of Gasoline Tax

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 19—(UP)—Amendment of the present three cent gas tax law so that cities may receive a portion of it was urged in resolutions adopted by the Illinois Municipal League convention at its closing session here yesterday. Under the present law the state gets two cents and the counties one cent of the tax.

Six other recommendations for legislative enactment were adopted by the convention. These included:

Increase of the bonding power of municipalities to five percent of the assessed valuation, subject to local referendum; more adequate control of public utilities; increase of cities' authority in regulating bus lines; payment of three percent interest on bank deposits for all cities; provision for cities sharing in distribution of revenue derived from income taxes; and increasing terms of mayors from two to four years.

Oil Companies Lose Suit for Tax Refund

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 19—(AP)—Suit of oil companies to force the state to show cause for retaining $6,000,000 in gasoline tax collected under the old 1927 gas tax law, which was decided by the lower court in favor of the oil companies, was reversed and remanded by the Supreme Court today.

The Supreme Court ruled that since the tax was paid voluntarily, and since the companies at no time offered to return the tax to their customers, they were in a court of equity with unclean hands.

STOCKS TUMBLED DIZZILY ON NEW YORK EXCHANGE TODAY; WEEK'S FIFTH DEPRESSION

Leading Issues Drop From $5 to $25 Per Share On Trade

New York, Oct. 19. —(AP)—For the fifth day this week, share prices tumbled dizzily on the New York Stock Exchange today. Scores of leading issues sold down from $5 to $25 a share, and many broke through the low established in the break earlier in the month. There was a notable speeding up of trading from the dull pace during the previous sessions of the week, some 3,000,000 shares changing hands in the two hour session. The ticker fell more than 49 minutes in arrears.

The feverish selling gave evidence of wild dumping overboard of marginal accounts weakened in the almost perpendicular decline of the past five days. There was considerable panicky selling inspired by wild rumors which were quickly and emphatically denied in responsible quarters. One was the old story to the effect that a prominent bull operator was in difficulties.

U. S. Steel was supported for a time but closed at $209, off $1.25. General Motors, United Gas Improvement and United Corp. sagged $2 or $3 to new lows for the year, or since listing on this market. Auburn Auto tumbled $25, Westinghouse Electric $13, Eastman Kodak $11 and General Electric and Montgomery Ward about $10 each. American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, American Can, North American Co., Atchison and Union Carbide were among issues dropping about $5 to $7.

YOUTH TOLD HE MUST DIE FOR GUN ROBBERIES

New Years Eve is Set for Execution by Oklahoma Judge

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 19—(UP)—At the age when most boys were trying out for high school basket ball teams or having their first "puppy love," Ted Cole, 17, is steeling his nerves for death in the electric chair for robbery with a gun.

The boy avowed his guilt yesterday before Judge Paul Yager, who assessed the death sentence, provided by Oklahoma law for robbery with firearms.

"You may have the rest of the year to prepare yourself to die," Judge Yager said. The date of execution was set for next Dec. 31, New Year's Eve.

Calmly and straight forwardly the youth told his story yesterday. He said two 19-year-old companions aided him in lining up a truck driver, the cashier and three women employes of a bottling plant here at the threat of revolvers three months ago.

The trio forced their victims to hand over their money and jewelry, young Cole said. They got $400 in all.

His companions, Morris Quinn and Billy Wendell, accused of aiding in the robbery, are awaiting hearings.

Fall Into Elevator Shaft May Be Fatal

Chicago, Oct. 19—(AP)—Vincent E. Healy, son of the founder of Lyon & Healy, musical instrument concern, is in a critical condition from injuries suffered Thursday when he fell two floors down an elevator shaft in a north side residence.

Healy is suffering from a spinal injury, six broken ribs, and shock.

ANOTHER WEEK OF EVIDENCE IN PANTAGES' TRIAL

Conflicting Stories of Alleged Attack Told by Witnesses

Los Angeles, Oct. 19—(AP)—Another week of presentation of testimony in the trial of Alexander Pantages, multi-millionaire theater man charged with criminally attacking Eunice Pringle, dancer, appeared in prospect today.

Defense attorneys said they had only a few more witnesses to call and indicated that Pantages himself would take the stand to mark the close of their case. Allowing time for rebuttal testimony, the case is expected to be in the hands of the jury a week hence.

Interest in the hearing yesterday centered in the testimony of L. A. Mills, Stockton, Cal., Attorney, who directly accused Garland Biffle, defense witness indicted for perjury, of giving false testimony. Mrs. Rose Fowler, private secretary to Pantages, also was called and gave an entirely new version of the attack story.

Talked With Mills.

Mills testified that on October 3 he met Biffle in Stockton and Biffle told him he had been subpoenaed as a witness in the Pantages case and said, "I don's know a thing about the case."

"I was in the theater building at the time of the alleged attack, but I saw nothing and heard nothing," Mills said Biffle told him.

Biffle previously had testified that he saw Miss Pringle enter the theater building with Nicholas Duneav, Russian playwright and had overheard a conversation between t he two which indicated a "frameup."

Admits Conversation.

Biffle was recalled to the stand and admitted the conversation with Mills, but denied that he told the Stockton man he had no knowledge of events leading up to the alleged attack.

Capone Makes Fifth Attempt For Liberty

Philadelphia, Oct. 19—(AP)—Another effort to get out of jail is being made by Al Capone and his bodyguard, Frank Cline, who are serving one year terms in the Eastern State penitentiary heer for carrying concealed weapons.

Under habeas corpus petitions for the discharge of the prisoners presented by their attorneys, the state Superior Court yesterday ordered Herbert Smith, Warden of the Penitentiary, and District Attorney John Monoghan to show cause why the writs should not be granted. The matter was set for hearing on October 28.

This is the fifth attempt by legal action to free Capone and Cline since they began serving their sentences in the county prison on May 17, the day after their arrest. Both pleaded guilty . On August 8 they were transferred to the penitentiary because of crowded conditions at the county prison.

Counsel for the prisoners, in their latest move to obtain their freedom aver that Judge John E. Walsh erred in sentencing them to a county prison instead of the state penitentiary.

Edison at Detroit For Monday's Fete

Detroit, Oct. 19. —(AP)— Coming to receive a nation's tribute on the golden anniversary of his invention of the incandescent electric light, Thomas A. Edison arrived here from East Orange, N. J., today. Traveling in the private car of Henry Ford, the inventor went immediately to the Ford estate, "Fair Lane," at Dearborn and planned to keep out of the public eye until Monday evening when President Hoover will voice the nation's greeting in formally dedicating the new Edison Institute of Technology established by Mr. Ford in his early American village at Dearborn.

Light's own tribute to Edison will be a flood of modern illumniation that will bathe the new Edison Institute during the ceremonies Monday night. To give the celebration the atmosphere of 1879, however, the restored Menlo Park buildings and the reproduction of Independence Hall, which is the principal unit of the early American village, will be illuminated only by tallow candles and oil lamps.

MADE PART OF TARIFF BILL; VOTE IS 42-34

Wishes of President On Measure Overridden For Third Time

Washington, Oct. 19—(UP)—The tariff debenture plan of farm relief, was adopted as part of the Republican tariff bill today by the Senate, 42 to 34.

Over the objection of President Hoover expressed when the matter was under consideration last spring, the Democratic-Republican farm bloc coalition succeeded in writing into the tariff measure the Norris amendment, which provides a Treasury bounty on exported farm products equal to one half the import tariff on the same products.

The farm bloc attempted to meet some of the President's objections by changes in the plan. In answer to his criticisms that the bounty certificates to be issued by the Treasury might do the farmer no good, Senator Norris, Repn., Neb., changed his amendment so that the certificates would be redeemable at the Treasury for 98 per cent of face value. Speculation in the certificates would be curtailed in that way, Norris believes.

To Curb Over Production

The Nebraskan also sought to answer the President's objection that it would lead to over production. He added a clause providing that when production reaches more than 20 per cent of the average for the preceding five years the debenture would be reduced by 20 per cent. A scale carries this reduction of the debenture up to 99 per cent when production increases by 90 per cent.

The debenture on wheat would be 21 cents a bushel since the tariff rate on wheat is 42 cents a bushel. For every bushel of wheat exported the Treasury would pay to the farmer, cooperative association, stabilization corporation or other agency the bounty of 21 cents in certificate form.

By this means the coalition hoped to care for the exportable surplus of farm products, making the tariff directly effective for the benefit of agriculture. Its application would have a tendency to raise all domestic prices of exportable farm products, the group believes.

Mr. Hoover's objection to the plan was fundamental. He contended beyond the objections met that it is unconstitutional and unworkable. While he has made no recent statement concerning the matter, the Senate accepted his objections as still standing when it debated the plan prior to the vote.

With the House aligned with the President against the debenture plan, the Senate action adds further difficulties to final enactment of tariff legislation. Intimations have been given by the Republican leaders, but not openly, that Mr. Hoover would veto the bill if it carried such a debenture rider. House leaders have given notice they do not intend to accept it, and may prevent it from getting as far as the White House.

Two Army Aviators Meet Death in Fall

Scott Field, Ill., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Two Army fliers were killed late yesterday when their planes crashed on a farm three miles from here after going into a tailspin at 2,000 feet altitude.

Those killed were Lieut. Charles S. Short, Chief Instructor of Reserve Officers here, and Lieut. J. K. Stevens, Reserve Officer of St. Louis.

Lieut. Short was dead when taken from the wreckage and Lieut. Stevens died in a hospital at Belleville, Ill., an hour later. Lieut. Short had taken several reserve pilots aloft on training flights during the afternoon, and was at the control when he took off with Lieut. Stevens.

BIDS FOR Y. M. C. A. BUILDING REJECTED BY DIRECTORS AT MEETING HELD FRIDAY NIGHT

Will Attempt to Sell Property at Private Sale

Bids received for the purchase of the Young Men's Christian Association property were rejected at a meeting of the Board of Directors held at the association building last evening. A few days will be taken to dispose of the property at a privately conducted sale, provided that a sufficient amount can be realized through this method, otherwise, the property will again be advertised for sale and new bids received. In the latter event the bids will be opened and considered by October 28.

Two bids, which were submitted last week, were considered by the board and finally both of these were rejected at last evening's meeting. In one instance, one of the major oil refining corporations was said to be interested in the property but had not abided by the provisions outlined in advertising for bids. Another bidder who was considered and who had complied with the advertisement for bids, the board believed had not placed his bid at a high enough figure. This was said to be a Chicago individual.

As conditions now stand, the board of directors will canvass individuals interested in the property and if possible dispose of it at a private sale, provided this can be accomplish by next Tuesday. In the event that no sale can be made by that date, the board will again advertise for bids, which will be opened October 28 and the property disposed of to the highest bidder.

TESTIMONY IN FALL TRIAL IS NEAR ITS END

Arguments in Bribery Case to Be Made Early in Week

Washington, Oct. 19—(AP)—Two weeks of attention to testimony regarding the $100,000 paid to Albert B. Fall by Edward L. Doheny was at an end today for the jurors in the Fall bribery trial as they awaited closing arguments of opposing counsel in the case.

Only a few character witnesses remained to be heard to conclude the defense of the former Interior Secretary, who contends the payment from Doheny was merely a loan from a friend of 43 years standing. The government charges the sum was a bribe to obtain the lease for the oil man of the Elk Hills, California naval petroleum reserve.

Still weak from the bronchial attack he suffered at the beginning of the trial, the 68-year-old defendant watched Doheny, who is five years his senior, describe their meeting in a New Mexico mining town nearly a half century ago.

Doheny is considered the most important witness for the defense, as Fall's lawyers have announced the defendant will not take the stand.

Home of Daughter of Dixon Mayor Robbed

Mayor Frank D. Palmer this morning received a letter from his daughter, Mrs. Glen C. Carnahan of Hyde Park, a suburb of Chicago, stating that their apartment was entered and ransacked Thursday evening and about $2,000 worth of valuables removed. Mr. Carnahan is in the east on a business trip and Mrs. Carnahan left her apartment about 5 o'clock, returning at 8.

Upon entering , she discovered a large pile of her husband's clothing and draperies plied in the center of the living room. Further examination disclosed the general ransacking of all of the rooms. An imported Chinese rug valued at several hundred dollars and other valuable articles had been removed during the three hours of her absence. The pile of clothing in the center of the living room indicated that the thieves had been frightened away. Mrs. Carnahan was formerly Miss Inez Palmer of this city.

AIRPLANE RUSHED MONEY TO END A WILD RUN ON BANK

Melodramatic Arrival of Plane With Money at Taylorville

Taylorville, Ill., Oct. 19—(UP)—With close to half a million dollars, rushed here from Chicago by airplane yesterday, in its vaults, the Farmers' State Bank was prepared to meet all demands by its depositors here today.

At the same time aid was forthcoming for the Kincaid Trust & Savings Bank ,near here, which managed to survive an all day run yesterday. The Peabody Coal Company, Springfield, notified the bank's officials that its treasury was free for the bank to draw on.

The run on the two banks started when two local banks and one at Edinburg closed their doors yesterday morning, making a total of six banks which have suspended in Christian county this week.

A decline in farm values and a slump in the coal industry was blamed for closing of the banks.

Melodramatic Affair.

The arrival of the airplane was a melodramatic affair.

The closing of the two banks here yesterday left the Farmers' State Bank the only remaining one of four open for business and when news of the suspension of the other banks spread crowds gathered and started a run on the Farmers' State.

All demands were met but the line of depositors kept growing and officials telephoned the Federal Reserve bank at Chicago to rush a supply of money. They were told a plane would start for Taylorville immediately.

Tellers leisurely doled out money, carefully checking it over, stalling for time so that their cash might not run out before the arrival of the plane.

About 1:30 the plane appeared over the city and landed at the local airport.

Shortly after the bank messenger, accompained by armed guards, made his way into the bank and dumped tow gunny sacks containing $500,000 in courrency on the counters and the run was over.

Texas Guard's Camp Destroyed by Fire

Austin, Tex., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Camp Mabry, Texas National Guard encampment near here, was destroyed by fire today. The fire started about 4 a. m. and its origin was not determined immediately, it swept through two buildings quickly and spread to a third.

The buildings were used as store houses for trucks, tents, cots and other national guard supplies. The hifhway commission also had a large quantity of supplies at Camp Mabry.

Fire officials said the loss probably would amount to several hundred thousand dollars.

All fire fighting equipment in Austin was rushed to the camp, which is several miles from the main part of the city.

The camp, established during the World War, has been little used in recent years except as a store depot.

Rockne Forbidden To Accompany His Team

South Bend., Ind., Oct. 19. (UP)—When Notre Dame's team entrained today for Chicago, Knute Rockne, its famous coach, was left at home for the second successive Saturday.

After a consultation, Dr. Robert L. Sensenich ordered Rockne to remain at home and in bed with his infected leg, while his team went to Chicago to play Wisconsin.

Several trips Rockne made this week to the Notre Dame practice field to direct his teams' practice did not do Rockne's ailing leg any good, according to reports, and it was decided that even an automobile ride to Chicago, would be too much strain.

FUGITIVE FOR TWO YEARS HE FACES GALLOWS

New Orleans Detectives Arrest Gangster in Gulfport, Miss.

BULLETIN.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Governor Emmerson today signed a requisition for the return of Conrad "Connie" Ritter, southern Illinois gangster, who is held at Gulfport, Miss.

BULLETIN

Gulfport Miss. Oct. 19. —(AP)—Franklin county, Illinois, today positively identified the man arrested here yesterday as Connie Ritter, member of the Charles Birger of southern Illinois and wanted there on three murder charges.

Gulfport, Miss., Oct. 19—(UP)—Another chapter in the history of "Bloody Williamson" county, Illinois, was believed closed here today with the capture of a man partially identified as Connie Ritter, lieutenant of Charlie Birger, gang lord of "Little Egypt."

His arrest ended a nation-wide search of more than two years, conducted while his erstwhile companions were captured, some of them sent to death and others to prison to break up notorious gang wars.

Yesterday two New Orleans detectives, trailing the man they believed Ritter, sprang from an automobile with drawn pistols and demanded his surrender.

Officer Interfered

A Gulfport officer, E. S. Ferguson uniformed of the intended arrest was atracted by the commotion created by the arrest of their quarry and two companions, rushed in and disarmed the two New Orleans detectives.

He feared a murder was about to be committed, but returned the detectives' guns when they established their identity. The two companions who gave the names of Louis Austin and Charle Brooks, later were released.

The New Orleans detectives, Reyes and Grosch, told police they had been on the trail of Ritter for three months and had come here on a tip given them by an ex-convict who knew Ritter.

IS DESPERATE MAN

Benton, Ill., Oct. 19—(UP)—Connie Ritter, gangster, was one of the most feared and dreaded lieutenants of Charlie Birger, who died on the gallows for the murder of Mayor Joe Adams of West City, whom he hired two boys to kill with poisoned bullets. Ritter is under indictment for the same murder, and is also charged with complicity in the double killing of State Highway Patrolman Lory Price and his wife.

In Price Murders.

Price was taken for a ride, and riddled with machine gun bullets the night of December 12, 1926. At the same time a second detachment, allegedly headed by Ritter took Mrs. Price from her home, shot her and threw her body into an abandoned mine shaft.

"She knew too much," they said.

Charlie Birger and his gunman Rado Millich, were hanged. The rest of his lieutenants are in prison for sentences amounting to life terms.

Rewards totaling $2,000 await the captor of Ritter.

Hoover Disapproves Inscription of Hate

Washington, Oct. 19.—(AP)—President Hoover is emphatically opposed to placing the inscription "Destroyed by German Fury. Restored by American Generosity" upon the new library of the University of Luvain, Belgium, built by American subscriptions obtained largely through the efforts of the Chief Executive.

Since Whitney Warren, the architect of the building, proposed and insisted upon this inscription more than three years ago, it has been the center of a controversy that has even caused rioting in the little Blegian town and has extended on several occasions to America.

"I and those associated we me, in the American gift of a library to the University of Luvain," the President said late yesterday in answer to the inquiry of a newspaper correspondent, wish to emphatically disclaim any approval of the action of Mr. Whitney Warren in insisting upon an offensive inscription upon the building."

Although protestng against the inscription, Mr. Hoover said that Warren had produced a "most notable building of great credit to himself and the nation."

NO ASSURANCE OF SUCCESS OF NAVY PARLEY NEXT YEAR

Acceptances of Invitation To Conference Received in London

London, Oct. 19—(UP)—The fact that France, Italy and Japan have now announced their willingness to participate in the forthcoming five-power naval disarmament conference, was not accepted in all quarters today as a triumphant indication that the movement for naval limitations so successfully promoted by Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald and President Hoover was bound to reach its goal.

Just how far France and Italy will be prepared to conform to the principles of parity advocated in the Anglo-American accord is still an open question and the more so since the replies sent by these governments as well as Japan to the naval conference invitation, all pointed to the necessity of further preliminary discussions.

The holding of the proposed conference is assured but thus far only two of the five powers involved are in a position to go into that conference in complete agreement with each other—the United States and Britain.

Depends on Three

Under the terms of the accord developed by McDonald and Hoover the two leading naval powers stand pledged to cruiser parity, the limitation of building, and the abolition of submarines. The success of the conference will depend largely upon the readiness of the other three powers to apply these principles to their naval programs in the future.

To the general policy of naval limitation, France and Italy are not expected to raise any objections Both powers have expressed themselves as being sincerely interested in disarmament, and the complete fulfillment of the principles of the Kellogg peace pact.

On the question of absolute parity as among themselves, and on the issue of submarine abolition, they are far from being in agreement with the principles on which the Anglo-American accord was based.

Both powers have deliberately indicated their naval problem was complicated by factors not sufficiently taken into consideration in the Anglo-American discussions. First on the question of parity, France insists that given her extended sea coasts and her far flung colonies to defend, she could not accept parity with Italy without placing herself at a gross disadvantage from the standpoint of all round security Her navy, she contends, must therefore always be larger than Italy's.

Italy Refusal

Italy on the other hand refuses to accept this conception. So far as France is concerned, Italy wants parity in the literal as well as technical sense, and she has announced her willingness to accpet the "lowest ratio" of armaments only if it is not to be exceeded by that of any other continental European power—specifically France.

On the question of submarine abolition, France and Italy take the common position that the submarine fleet constitutes an absolutely indispensable part of their naval armaments. Unable to afford the extensive building of cruisers and battleships; they argue that if they are to have a navy at all, it must be through the maintenance of an adequate force of submarines and destroyers and other vessels of the minor categories.

Both Italy and France are also inclined to insist that any agreement should be subject to approval and possibly revision by the League of Nation's preparatory disarmament commission. In other words, they would have the five-power conference considered only as a step toward a general disarmament conference under the auspices of the League of Nations.

In the last analysis both powers either at the five-power conference or at any subsequent general conference will be prepared to maintain the position that naval limitation must be considered in conjunction with the land and air armaments which constitute such important factors in the defense programs of European states.

Japan's position presents no serious obstacles. She does not seek parity with the United States and Britain, and thus far has made but a technical gesture toward an increase of the 5-5-3 ratio to 10-10-7 She also favors immediate reduction of naval armaments.

While a section of expert opinion contemplated the situation with a certain degree of skepticism today official circles regarded the move already made by Italy to begin preliminary discussions with France, as a hopeful sign.

HOOVER THINKS LIQUOR SITUATION IMPROVED

But Many Details of Administration of Law Remain Unsolved

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Ot. 19—(UP)—President Hoover's prohibition policy which outlawed spectacular drives and the sawed-off shot gun, and abandoned the verbal broadside as an enforcement weapon, is being weighed today in official circles in the light of six months experience.

Since the Chief Executive outlined his new program in a White House press conference in mid-April he has given no indication of an intention to change it. He feels that many details of administration still remain to be smoothed out, but that progress thus far has been encouraging—even if not entirely satisfactory to the extreme drys in congress

New steps in the Hoover program for more effective enforcement will await rorganization of the Prohibition Bureau and transfer of the entire unit from the Treasury to the Department of Justice. This move however, cannot be made until Congress acts.

Although the Hoover policy never has been outlined in an official document of any kind, the program as defined by six months experience embraces three primary aims: first to build up respect for law in principle; second to dry up the chief channels of importation; third, to enlist the more effective cooperation of state and city officials with federal agencies.

Triumph This Week

The government's breakup this week of what was believed to be the bootlegging industry's largest syndicate, whose operations extended from the French possessions of St Pierre and Miquelon in the north to the Bermudas, is the greatest victory of the prohibition forces against importation of liquor to date. Other drives against importation have resulted in seizure of 174 vessels by the customs and Coast Guard since January 1.

Prohibition killings, which have averaged 20 a year, according to Prohibition Bureau records, have numbered five for the first nine months of the current year.

A factor has been the improvement of enforcement personnel through systematic educational program, and through the gradual replacement of untrained officers by those selected by civil service examinations.

Meanwhile, the Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement is at work on the most exhaustive study of crime and lawlessness in the history of the country, seeking according to its members, the touchstone of nation-wide respect for law.

Supplementing this long-time study, John McNab of San Francisco, personal friend of the President is making a survey designed to facilitate transfer of prohibition machinery to the Justice Department

SENATE'S LOBBY COMMITTEE ASKS FOR INVESTIGATOR

Justice Department May Furnish Skilled Man for Lobby Probe

BY PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Oct. 19.—(UP)—Confronted by evasive witnesses and a mass of private information which needs to be run down, the Senate lobby investigating committee has decided to ask the Justice Department to furnish it with skilled investigators.

The request probably is to be forwarded to Attoreny General Mitchell today while the committee is in recess until Monday awaiting further evidence in the Eyanson-Bingham case, the United Press has been reliably informed.

The committee decided the assistance of an investigator was necessary after hearing the testimony of Charles L. Eyanson of the Connecticut Manufacturers Association, who was charged by committee members with having a feeble memory. The committee frankly told him it doubted some portions of his story about how he was employed as a tariff adviser by Senator Hiram Bingham, Repn., Conn.

To Call Officers

New information in the Eyanson-Bingham case as revealed by the principals will be developed Monday when the committee will call Kent Hubbard, president of the Connecticut Manufacturers Association, and Robert C. Buell, secretary.

The committee has laid much stress on letters written by Hubbard to Eyanson while the latter was working in Bingham's office during the preparation of the tariff bill last summer, and accompanying Bingham to the private sessions of the Senate Finance committee. Both Eyanson and Bingham have said Eyanson was borrowed from the manufacturers association to help Bingham in tariff matters, but the correspondence indicates Hubbard looked upon Eyanson as still being in his employ all during his activities in Washington. He commended Eyanson's labors in the highest terms.

Bingham did not tell the committee of $1,000 he sent to Eyanson for the work that developed by Eyanson and he may be requested to appear again to explain. He appeared at his own request Thursday.

OCTOBER'S MOODS

OCTOBER is a harlequin
Pied in red and green,
Whose nimble feet go dancing
Where sleepy Summer's been;
A leaping prancing fellow,
A cunning clever blade,
with a childish love of laughter
And a kiss for every maid.

October is a troop of horse
In scarlet jackets gay,
With helmets plumed and golden
In glittering array;
With lilting bugles in the van
And guidons on the flank,
They canter lightly up the hills
In easy straggling rank .

October is a mighty host
Which moves with ponderous tread,
With clashing brass and roaring drums,
And banners at its head;
With neighing steeds, and blazoned shields,
And richly vested knights,
It sweeps across the valley
And thunders up the heights.

October is a gypsy lad
In saddle tawny tire,
Weather stained and ragged,
Who will not work for hire;
But draws his belt and whistles
And of his want makes light,
His tattered cloak about him
Beneath a hedge o' night.

MRS. CORNELIUS TO ENTERTAIN NEXT WEEK—

Mrs. George Cornelius will entertain Tuesday and Wednesday with bridge luncheons.

NEW YORK—PARIS FASHIONS

THERE is no doubt that this coming fall and winter we are all going to do what we can to attain the perfect figure. If we don't, we should, for the new modes demand it and there are no half way measures about that. Just plain thinness won't do, either. There must be a little shape along with that thinness if we are really to carry these frocks and fitted coats with distinction and what the French call elan. The frock of fine rayon satin sketched here is an example of these new demands. Look at the way the bodice outlines the curves of the body and what the skirt requires in the way of hips. This is a copy of a frock from Germaine Lecomte, one of the smaller Paris houses, but everywhere in Paris the new rules are the same. Fitted silhouette, normal waistline and longer skirts. And this frock makes use of the last two points as well. In its material, also, it lives up to the new mode. These very shining satins are much liked for the new frocks as they give a light and sparkle to even the simplest of models as well as bringing out all the art of their draping and cutting.

War Mothers in Pleasant Meeting

(Contributed)

The Lee Co. War Mothers met at the cottage of Mrs. Watts and Bunnell on Friday morning with twenty in attendance. Long tables were spread and a tempting dinner was served. The morning was spent in greeting one another.

Mrs. Mary Elliot, gold star mother, was present. After dinner the mothers all gathered outside and group pictures were taken. Then everybody laughed and had a good time as only mothers know how.

At 1:30 the president called the ladies to order and the flag salute was given. Mrs. Beach, a guest, was presented as an honor member, as was also Mrs. Grace Smith. Bills were read and ordered paid. Reports from the ladies who visited the hospital at Maywood on Tuesday were given. The president then began her report of the late convention by saying the American War Mothers were incorporated, being one of a few war orders to have this honor. She told of her trip to Chicago where they were joined by delegates from other states when all started the trip to Louisville, Ky., on the special War Mothers train. As there were no gentlemen on this train, except the train men, great was the cheering as one came in sight. As they arrived in Louisville the special trains were met by three bands playing beautiful music and they ended their greeting in music with "My Old Kentucky Home." The Brown Hotel where the convention was held was used by the American War Mothers. The War Mothers have just voted at this convention to have a National War Mothers Home at Washington, where the National President and Custodian of Records will live. The Egals giving the National order $5,000 to help buy this home.

Welcome to Kentucky was given by Hon. W. B. Harrison, Mayor of Louisville, and Hon. Flem D. Sampson ,Governor of Kentucky gave a real welcome and offered to assist any of the mothers if in trouble. Mrs. Root and Mrs. Margaret McClure responded to the addresses of welcome.

The Kentucky State Fair Chorus of 200 voice entertained with a cantata, "I Hear America Singing." The chorus then sang "The Soldiers' Chorus" and as this was being sung the color men advanced and massed on the stage. Visits to different parks, boat rides, and Saturday afternoon the majority of mothers attended the races at Churchill Downs. They seemed to be happy in carrying out the old saying "we will try anything once." Churchill Downs was a treat, beautiful flowers, green grass, flags and beautiful horses.

From the visit to Mammoth Cave the president brought a keepsake and each one drew for it, Mrs. S. W. Miller winning the little heart. Beautiful pictures of all the places visited were shown by the president while she told of her trip, saying the time flew all to fast. Flowers were most beautiful, great golden dahlias, roses and gladiolus were every where to be seen as the baskets were carried by the pages to the platform. Long Beach, Calif., drew the 1931 National Convention. Illinois was reported as one of the three states for largest carnation sale and hospital work.

Denver, Colo., got the National Business meeting for 1930.

The local bazaar and rummage sale will be held in early November, each Mother to do her part with fancy work, aprons and baked goods.

The afternoon drew to a close and at a late hour everyone left for home voting the hostesses many thanks for the pleasant day enjoyed.

Senior-Junior Party Was Most Enjoyable Affair

The Senior-Junior High School party, an annual affair, was held in the south side gym last evening, and was largely attended, many pupils and friends being present and also eight members of the faculty. The large room has been beautifully decorated for the event with autumn leaves and foliage and in purple and white, the D. H. S. colors, and it presented a most attractive appearance.

Before the dance an interesting program was given, including a Follies number by eight girls, and the Breakaway which was danced by the Messes Elsie Neff, Rexine Hudson, Jarloth Jones and Mary Kennedy. Both of these numbers were cleverly presented and received much applause. A Boxing Bout was taged in a farcial manner and this and a take-off on marathon dancing were special features for fun, getting a big hand. After the program the business of the evening, dancing, was indulged in till a late hour. Punch was served during the evening, and they all report an exceptionally happy evening.

W. H. M. S. in Happy Meeting Wednesday

The Woman's Home Missionary Society members of the Methodist church were entertained Wednesday afternoon at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hurty with Mrs. Alice Anderson and Miss Estella Anderson as hostesses. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. H. D. Bills, and a hymn called "Consecration" was sung by the society.

Mrs. Frey had charge of the devotions assisted by a number of the other members.

After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting and the report of the treasurer other business of the society was discussed and the names of eight new members were reported. Mrs. Ed Shawger gave a review of the first chapter of the study book which was given in a most interesting manner.

Mrs. S. J. Mail acted as program leader and lead the society in the singing of a hymn with Miss Verna Peterson at the piano.

Miss Alberta Peterson favored the society with two lovely piano numbers to the pleasure of the society. Mrs. Fred Hobbs read an interesting leaflet entitled "A Settlement in a Mill Village." A series of questions were given by Mrs. Mall with answers from members of the society. Miss Alberta Peterson closed the program by singing an arrangement of the "The Lord's Prayer" which brought the program of the afternoon to a very fitting close.

During the social hour dainty refreshments were served by the group of which Mrs. Henry Floto is chairman.

Frances Mary Louise Had Party Friday

Frances Mary Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Drew, was five years old yesterday and entertained in the afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock a number of her little friends at her home. Hallowe'en decorations pleased the children greatly. The centerpiece for the table was a pumpkin face with a candle inside, and all the lights were shaded with small pumpkins, and there were flowers and foliage. The favors were false faces, of half-masks and this was cause for merriment. Ice cream, cakes and candy were the tempting refreshments and the little friends departed at the close of the happy afternoon leaving Frances Mary with many pretty gifts and best wishes for happy returns of the day.

St. James-Eldena Societies in Meeting

Mrs. John Lohmeyer entertained the St. James Missionary Society and Eldena Missionary at her home in an all day meeting with a picnic dinner at noon, the hostess serving fried chicken as her part. There were forty-two present.

The meeting opened with song by all, followed by Scripture reading by Rev. Fisher. The clipping pages were then taken up, led by Rev. Fisher, also the magazine quiz with all taking part in reading, also a dialogue was read which was very interesting.

A motion was made and carried that the society educate either a boy or girl in India and Mrs. Shippert is also educating a girl herselff.

The meeting closed by all repeating the Lord's Prayer. It was then decided to hold a public thank offering meeting at the St. James church in November, to which all are invited, the date to be announced later. All departed, thanking Mrs. Lohmeyer for the lovely day all spent together.

After cards Mrs. Bennett served delightful refreshments, completing a very happy evening for the club.

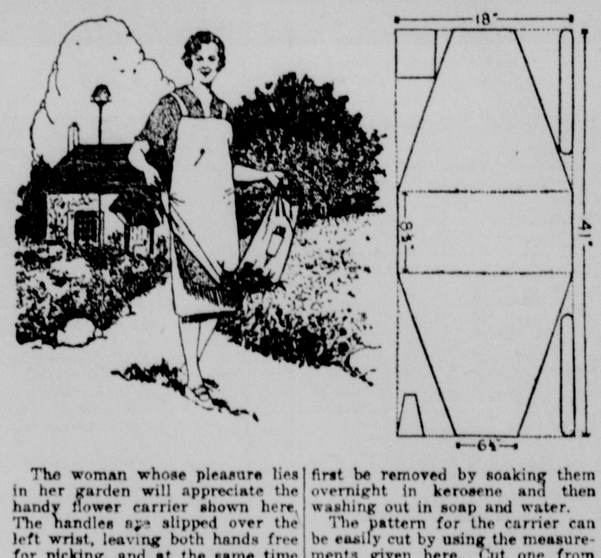
For the Flower Lover

Carrier Made from Flour Bag Very Useful in Weeding and for Picking Up Brush.



The woman whose pleasure lies in her garden will appreciate the handy flower carrier shown here. The handles are slipped over the left wrist, leaving both hands free for picking, and at the same time preventing the flowers' wilting from the warmth of the hands. It may also be used when weeding or in picking up brush.

A single osnaburg feed bag and an empty flour bag will provide the material necessary for two such carriers, one for yourself and one for your flower-loving neighbor. The only cost for each will be for the four yards of bias tape to bind the edges and a few cents for dye. It is not necessary to dye the osnaburg, but the flour bag material will of course show soil and stain much less if dyed a deep green or a rich rose color.

The stamping on the bags may first be removed by soaking them overnight in kerosene and then washing out in soap and water.

The pattern for the carrier can be easily cut by using the measurements given here. Cut one from osnaburg for the outside, and one from the flour bag for lining. Stitch the two pieces of material together on the dotted lines and slip in between them a piece of strong cardboard or lightweight wood 8"x17". Then bind all the way around and put in the handles firmly. The narrow pocket is to hold the shears while the square one is for string, tags and other garden accessories.

By using osnaburg for both thickness and omitting the cardboard and pockets, one has an excellent sturdy carrier for bringing small logs and kindling from the woodpile to the fireplace.

Play, "How the Club Was Formed," Proved A Decided Success

"How the Club Was Formed," a three act comedy, presented by the members of the Ladies Aid Society of St. Paul's Lutheran church Friday evening in the church parlors was a decided success from start to finish many standing who were unable to secure chairs.

"Mrs. Jones" who has gotten tired of forever scrubbing and cleaning decides to form a club for the downtrodden married women of the town.

"Hannah Maria", who had been to Boston visiting Aunt Jane—(a club woman)—offers to assist Mrs. Jones in the work. Then the fun begins. Through the three acts Mrs. Jones struggles with the women who have decided to join her club, to educate and lift themselves up to other things besides tending children and baking and scrubbing and finally becomes discouraged and tells them they are too ignorant to do anything and they can all go straight home for she never wants to ever try any more club work.

Wilson Ortgiesen at the piano did much to add to the pleasure of the entertainment. A trio composed of three ladies, Mrs. George Weyant, Mrs. Sumner Wilson and Miss Eva Peterson accompanied by Miss Helen Conrad, sang a beautiful double number between acts one and two. This was very much enjoyed as was the entire production which netted the Aid a neat sum above expenses, for church purposes.

The cast for the play is as follows, and everyone who took part deserves much credit for all did equally well. The costumes were a decided hit, being of the age when long skirts and long hair were the style. The cast follows:

Mrs. Jones—Mrs. Roy Poffenberger.
Mrs. Snow—Mrs. Nettie Coakley.
Hannah Maria—Miss Eleanor Powell.
Mrs. Brown—Mrs. Will Teschendorff.
Mrs. Reed—Mrs. James Boyer.
Mrs. Smith—Mrs. Clarence Wickey.

Mrs. Welch—Mrs. Robert Fulton.
Mrs. Hobbs—Mrs. Bert Ortgiesen.
Mrs. Stone—Mrs. Anna Reese.
Mrs. Slocum—Mrs. George Smith.
Mrs. White—Mrs. Earl Frey.
Chairman and Director—Mrs. Austin George.
Assistant and Treasurer—Mrs. John Bohnsteil.

Prairieville Social Circle Meeting

Mrs. George LeFevre was the efficient hostess to the Prairieville Social Circle at her home in Sterling Wednesday. The fine weather brought out twenty-five members, four guests and eighteen children to enjoy the day. The home was profusely and beautifully decorated with garden flowers. The society has been very busy for the past several weeks. The chairman of the work and entertainment committee, Mrs. Bertha Kendall, had artfully planned unique diversion from the general routine. The company was divided into three sections and a flower guessing contest was given. The winning section was first, to be served at the sumptuous picnic dinner, then the rest, after which a short business meeting was held and one new member was taken into the society. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in pleasant entertainment, and all heartily applauded Mrs. Kendall for her clever planning. The guests then dispersed to meet in three weeks with Mrs. W. E. Tillman of Sterling.

THE THINGS WE IMAGINE.

Three American women are off for Bagdad on a quest that will certainly be fascinating, even though it probably will prove fruitless. They want to find the storied palace of Haroun al Raschid; and, in the process, they hope to find out who wrote the Arabrian Nights stories.

Maybe it is unkind, in advance of their explorations, to say that their venture probably will fail. There are certain riddles, bequeathed us by history, that weren't meant to be solved; and it does seem as if this Arabian Nights business were one of them.

Haroun al Raschid, like King Arthur, Ulysses and other romantic figures of the past, was very likely a more or less legendary creature. It is more than possible that old Bagdad never knew a ruler by that name. Hunting for his palace will be much like trying to find King Arthur's island vale of Avalon; it will mean looking for a place that never was on the map, that never had reality, that never was meant for the profaning feet of realtistic antiquarians.

Yet, for all that, the old Arabian and his storied palace are quite as real today as most flesh-and-blood personages of the old days. More so, infact; anyone who can read and can walk to the nearest library can make the acquaintance of both in short order. For when you invent a man, or a place, you at once make all ages free to come and see. The things we imagine are nearly always more real and substantial than the things which actually happen. What boy hasn't strolled the quarter-deck with Long John Silver?

The truth is that we are not realtistic people. We are servants of dreams. The shapes that we conjure up in cloudland are the forces that mold our lives. Even in our history books this truth is apparent. George Washington, for instance, was once a live, human figure; yet we have interwoven into the story of his life so much legend, so many fanciful tales, that the Washington of popular imagination probably would be unrecognizable to Benjamin Franklin, say, or John Adams, who knew him in the flesh. And that is not a fact to be regretted, either; for the legendary Washington has become gigantic, lordly, an image of the ideals and aspirations of his countrymen.

The ladies who are hunting Haroun's palace are, one suspects, somewhat like those present-day biographers who are trying to "de-bunk" our histories. Their motive is, very likely, highly praiseworthy; yet there is a limit to the usefulness of hard facts. Legends are more important. They are the stuff our souls grow on.

It does no good to try to take the old tales apart. The man who is nourished and supported by them is the man who suspends his faculties of unbelief and absorbs them for what they are. He is the man who can steer his ship into a harbor on the seacoast of Bohemia, while the sober fact-seekers beat to and fro outside, looking in vain for a beacon.

PROMOTING COMMUNISM.

If the leaders of the North Carolina mobs that have been attacking the textile strikers are really trying to promote the cause of Communism and social unrest in this country they are doing a magnificent job, and should receive the instant congratulations of Moscow.

If, on the other hand, they are trying to preserve our established political and economic order, they are fearful bunglers and should be called off the job without delay.

You can think as you please about the right and wrongs of Carolina textile strike. Certainly there are two sides to it. But for the flogging of the strike leaders and the killing of a defenseless woman there is not a shadow of a defense.

What is more important is the fact that this mob violence will do more to win converts to the Communists' banner than anything else that could have happened. The ignorant fanatics who are responsible are playing directly into the hands of the strikers.

The Colorado banker who got $500,000 from New York banks for the sake of his depositors should be given some kind of rising vote by the newspaper reporters. He is the first one who didn't do it for the wife and kiddies.

America lacks a sense of humor, says Count Keyserling. He ought to come over here during the football season and read some of the coaches' stories on the eve of big football games.

This is the fourth successive year that California has reported an overproduction of wine grapes. People arn't going in for temperance drinks like wine any more.

President Hoover says the President should be allowed to hang two men every year without giving any reason or explanation. Come now, Mr. Hoover, you surely don't mean that you wouldn't give us some reason!

The Tinies stood down on the ground and watched the shoes go sailing 'round. They hoped the little Weeones would be rescued from the tree. It all depended on the shoe, 'cause there was naught that they could do. "Oh ,goodness me," said Scouty. "I'm as nervous as can be."

"The old woodpecker's pecking fast. I do not think that tree will last much longer. Hey there, little shoe, please get the Weeones quick. Or bump that bird with all your might and put the pesky thing to flight. If you can save the Weeones from disaster, 'twill be slick."

Then one Weeone began to call. "Hey, Tinies, we're about to fall. The bird has almost finished with his tree-trunk pecking task. Please hold the tree so it won't drop, or we'll all take a sudden flop. Do anything to save us. That is all we Weeones ask."

"Have patience. Don't give up just yet," cried Coppy. "You can safely bet that we will try and rescue you. Just hang on to the tree. Before it falls and breaks in two, the wooden shoe will come to you. Then if you'll climb aboard it, you'll be safe as safe can be."

Just then the wooden shoe swooped near. The Weeones all began to cheer. They finally reached and caught it and to hold it still they tried. Of course this wasn't done with ease. The shoe kept bobbing on the breeze. But, in about two minutes, every Weeone was inside.

The Tinymites took up the cheer and Scouty shouted, "Come down here." And then the little wooden shoe made straightway for the ground. Just then the big tree cracked and creaked, and off the big woodpecker sneaked. He'd sent the monstrous tree stump falling, with an awful sound.

(The Tinymites and Weeones celebrate in the next story.)

CORNWALLIS SURRENDERS

On Oct. 19, 1781, Lord Charles Cornwallis surrendered 7247 British troops at Yorktown, Va., virtually ending the War of Independence.

Cornwallis, after establishing himself at Yorktown early in August of that year, fortified the town with seven redoubts and six batteries on the land side, and a line of batteries along the river.

Washington, with the combined American and French forces, left his headquarters at West Point, N. Y., on Aug. 19, proceeded by land to Elkton, then down the Chesapeake Bay, reaching Williamsburg Sept. 14.

On Sept. 28, Washington marched to the investment of Yorktown with a force of about 16,000 of whom two-thirds were Frenchmen under Rochambeau.

A French fleet under Count de Grassse had already entered the Chesapeake and, by blocking the James and York rivers, cut off communication between the British at Yorktown and New York.

By the 16th of August the walls shrdlushrd hrdlu hrdl hrdl hrdl hrrd and fortifications of the British work were broken down and almost every gun dismounted. Cornwallis attempted to escape at night, but the plan was frustrated and on the 19th he surrendered.

Although the disaster resulted in the resignation of the British ministry, Cornwallis escaped censure owing to royal favor.

Heartburn is a very common complaint in those suffering from indigestion, and most people think it is the result of an increase in the acidity of the contents of their stomachs. It has ,however, been demonstrated by a study of the contents of the stomachs of heartburn sufferers, that only a small proportion of these people have an increase in the degree of acid, whereas a considerable number may have a lowering of the acidity of the contents of their stomachs. Furthermore, it has been shown that, when amounts of hydrochloric acid of a quality approximating that ordinarily found in the human stomach were introduced into the stomachs of human beings, no untoward sensations were experienced.

It is believed that the most probable cause of heartburn is a regurgitation of acid material from the stomach into the lowermost portion of the esophagus or gullet. Occasionally this acid, after it enters the gullet, is retained there for a lengthy period of time because of an associated spasm of the inlet muscle at the junction of the gullet and stomach. When the regurgitated acid material reaches a rather high level in the gullet, the burning sensation may be felt at a higher point in the chest and at times may even reach the throat .

The regurgitation of the sour food into the gullet, it is now quite certain, produces the heartburn, but what cause is back of this regurgitation? Why does a backflow of this acid food into the gullet take place? This, of course, is due to a disturbance in the motor activity of the stomach proper. Instead of the stomach muscles forcing the food contents onward, some is pushed backward through its inlet into the gullet.

This motor disturbance may be purely nervous in origin or it may be an expression of disease in another organ or it may be the result of disease within the stomach itself. A purely nervous instability may result from mental irritations of varying forms and degrees, and in certain instances of affection involving the glands of internal secretion. In conditions of this kind, the nervous system that presides over the stomach and bowels may be much more responsive to stimulation than is normally the case. When the disturbance is a reflex phenomenon, some of the most common sources for its production may be gall bladder disease, appendicitis, duodenal ulcer, genito-urinary affections, and eyestrain. Diseases in the stomach proper would imply ulcer, catarrh varying grades in inflammation, growths, etc.

Heartburn, just like other symptoms, if persistently present has significance and, when taken into consideration with other symptoms of which the patient may complain, leads toward a diagnosis. It is a warning sign which every physician respects, and which the patient should learn to regard properly. Unfortunately, heartburn has been taken too lightly by many folks and, as a result, conditions which at one time were readily amenable to improvement or cure have reached a stage of intractibility where it is almost impossible to bring about marked improvement, let alone a cure.

COMFORT GIVEN AS KEYNOTE OF ENGLISH AUTOS

Motor Car Show Opens in London—"Baby" Car Popular

By HARRY L. PERCY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London — (UP) — New wonders in the way of automobile construction were revealed at the Olympic hall, here today, when the English Motor Show opened to continue for ten days.

Striking improvements in car comfort have been made, particularly in body-work, finish and general furnishings. The motif of the show is "comfort," and this has even been applied to the arrangements of the show itself. The public is able to view the new models much better and with greater comfort than in former years because of the recent ruling that not more than two properly accredited salesmen are allowed on each stand.

In the automobile section there are about 90 stands, more than 60 in the carriage work section, and 336 for accessories and components. The Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders, Ltd., organizers of the show, anticipates a record attendance.

Meet U. S. Competition

Six or eight cylinder automobiles are most numerous in the show, and they are priced and designed with the object of meeting American competition. It is stated that the general standard of British production has never been higher, although great secrecy has been maintained in the building and trying-out of some of these models.

The new Morris medium-powered six for instance, assembled at Le Mans, France, and tested in Luxembourg and other places on the continent. It is a 14.9 horsepower car, with a road tax of $75.

Camouflaged as Van

Another six, a 16 horsepower Singer to be sold under $1500—cheap for a British six-cylinder car—was tested very severely. To prevent the attentions of the curious the car was camouflaged as a green grocer's van. It was able to take a hill of one in six with a full load at 26 m. p. h.

Fine improvements will be discovered in the Daimlers, Sunbeams Vauxhalls, Alvis, Rolls Royces, Austins, and, indeed, in all of the 1930 models.

Naturally, with the enormous demand for the "baby" types, a prominent place has been allotted to them in the show, and the latest "sevens" will doubtless be inspected wtih the greatest interest. Large export business is expected in the smaller types.

The twelve horse-power auto priced at around $1250 will be the most popular car.

Sunshine sedans will be offered in practically every model.

Lubrication systems have been vastly improved. There is a more universal adoption of the one-shot system.

Colors are brighter and the streamlining has been emphasized.

P. T. A. Meeting

The first Parent-Teachers' Association of the year was held Friday evening in the school building. The room was well-filled in spite of the rain, which was surely evidence that we as a community are interested in our school. O. D. Buck, the new president, made a few remarks concerning the history of the organization and its value to the community. Mrs. Bertha Rorick, the musical director of the school, conducted a musicall contest which proved very entertaining. She told of her work in the school and expressed apprciation of the help and cooperation she has received in her efforts here.

A short business session was held with reports from the standing committees as to their plans for the coming year, showing that the organization is starting out with the work of the year well planned and organized. Mrs. Charles Sunday gave a brief outline of the activities of the Parent-Teachers organization as a whole, as presented at the District Conference, which met that day.

The following program was presented: Music-Orchestra, composed of Mrs. F. J. Blocher violin; F. J. Blocher, cornet; Wayne Bates, clarinet and Mrs. W. L. Moore, piano. Two numbers were given which were much enjoyed.

Mrs. E. L. Fish in a few well chosen remarks expressed the sentiment of those present and the entire community as well in a welcome to the teachers employed in the school, both new and old, each teacher responded with a few words, all urging the parents and friends of the school to visit the different rooms and get acquainted with the work there, so that they might know just what their children are doing. The teachers who had been here last year or longer, all stressed the help that the P. T. A. had been in offering a welcome hand and hearty spirit of co-operation with the work of the school.

Refreshments were served by the hospitality committee, assisted by the teachers. A social period was spent in greeting the teachers and visiting togthr. F. C. Gross, chairman of the Membership committee reported fifty-seven members already on the roll and urged all present to help boost the number up to the goal of 100 members. Prof. Hanson, chairman of the Program committee announced that a series of programs of special interest is being planned and that anyone wishing to have some special subject included in the program is asked to notify him or some member of the committee. The next meeting will be held Friday evening Novmber 8. The program will be announced later but it will be well worth your effort to attend and hear the program.

Attended Meeting in Rockford

Mrs. Wilbur Brecunier and Mrs. Charles Sunday attended the District Conference Meeting of Parent-Teachers in Rockford Friday, as delegates from the local P. T. A The conference was held in the new Lincoln Junior High School building and was well attended.

District 3, comprising seven counties in the northwest portion of the state, contains at present seventy local P. T. A. organizations, with new ones being formed as information concerning the movement becomes more general. The organization began as a National Congress of Parents and Teachers organized to study child welfare and the needs of homes, schools and communities, looking toward the goal of better conditions for all children. Later came a call for the state organization, which rapidly developed until now all the states are organized except Nevada. Illinois was organized in 1900 and district division came in 1917. There are twenty districts in the state, Lee county being a part of district 3. Local organization followed and is rapidly growing. Each local P. T. A. by paying per capita dues, becomes a part of the greater state and national organization, all working together for "better homes, better schools, better communities, for the children."

War Guns Boom While Peace is Discussed

While Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Brittain was discussing world peace with American leaders, giant war machines—"the most destructive and deadly ever devised"—boomed only a few miles away at Aberdeen, Md. In the photo at the upper right, you see Secretary of Commerce Thomas Lamont, left; Assistant Secretary of War Patrick Murley, center, and Benedict Crowell, president of the Army Ordnance Association. Upper left a private soldier is shown holding a 17-pound aerial bomb which contrasts strikingly with the 4000-pound demolition bomb beside it—the largest ever carried aloft in a bombing plane—which was dropped, without exploding, into a marsh. Below you see the firing of a battery of French 75's, and a part of the huge crowd that witnssed the deafening exhibit.

They're pictured above just before going aloft in a seaplane over Lake Constance, Switzerland. The Queen is in the forward cockpit and the Princess behind her. Growing strength of the political faction headed by Queen Marie has been reported.

ROCHELLE WINS FROM GAME, OUT-PLAYED LOCALS

Dixon's Hopes for Title Snuffed by 22 to 0 Defeat Friday

DIXON LIGHTS, 7; ROCHELE, 0. DIXON HEAVIES, 0; ROCHELLE 22

Completely outplayed and unable to stem the terrific line smashing attack administered by Rochelle's heavy plungers, Dixon's chances at winning the conference championship dwindled before one of the largest crowds that has assembled at the north side athletic field yesterday afternoon. Except for one play in the third quarter when Teeter ripped a 35 yard gain around right end, Dixon was kept busy attempting to hold Rochelle back. The entire line-up that started the game stuck bravely to the finish.

Rochelle played a ripping, tearing game from the very start and never let up until the final whistle sounded. Draper at left half was the star ground gainer for the visitors and he could not be stopped. The Rochelle line was an impenetrable wall and Dixon could not break through. McReynolds, Teeter and Daniels who were depended upon to play the stellar roles in the event that Dixon could win, were helpless and all three men were injured during the afternoon but after taking time out to rest came back and gamely finished the game.

While the heavies were held scoreless in their game, the lights were far more fortunate and won the opening game by a score of 7 to 0. In the third quarter the lights opened up an attack on Rochelle's line with Wolford and Lebre doing the smashing. With the ball on Rochelle's 40 yard line, Wolford was chosen to carry the oval and went around the right end of the line, racing 60 yards for a touchdown. Campbell hit the center of the line for the extra point. The lights outplayed their opponents throughout the entire game.

The main attraction of the afternoon between the heavies resulted as follows.

First Quarter

McReynolds kicked off for Dixon, the ball rolling back of the Rochelle goal line and the ball was brought back into play on Rochelle's 20 yard line. Draper fumbled and recovered the ball on the second down and made 16 yards around right end. Rochelle was penalized 15 yards for using hands. A 12 yard advance was made around right end and Rochlelle punted to Dixon's 35 yard line. McReynolds made ten yards off right tackle. Watson was substituted for Esposito who was carried off the field because of injuries. Daniels made five off left tackle. Teeter, one yard off right tackle and Kaufman hit center for four more making first down. Daniels hit center for three yards and on the next play Teeter lost half of this and Daniels punted back of Rochelle's goal. The ball was brought back into play on the 20 yard line. On three successive snaps of the ball, Rochelle gained 25 yards on line plunges, after which Draper circled the left end advancing the oval to Dixon's 23 yard line. Cooper then went around right end to Dixon's 23 yard line. Draper went around the left end unmolested and with perfect interference for a touchdown and then hit the center of the line for the extra point. Rochelle, 7; Dixon, 0.

Second Quarter

Rochelle kicked off to Dixon's 20 yard line, Kaufman returning the ball 11 yards. McReynolds made two yards around left end. Daniels was held without a gain. McReynolds added two more through center and Daniels punted to Rochelle's 38 yard line. Draper made six off right tackle. On the next play three men went down to receive a pass and all three tuoched the ball, Fisher finally grabbing it and taking it over for the second touchdown. An attempt by Cooper to drop kick for the extra point failed. Rochelle, 13; Dixon, 0.

Rochelle kicked off to Dixon's 20 yard line and it was brought back 14. McReynlds made about six yards through center. Daniels added two more through center and the ball lacked one inch of being over on the fourth down. Cooper made five through center and Draper added two more, the half closing with Rochelle in possession of the ball on Dixon's 30 yard line.

Third Quarter

Rochelle kicked off to Dixon's 15 yard line. McReynolds returning it eight yards. Daniels was injured on the first down when he was called upon to carry the ball but after extra time out, he came back. McReynolds made three through right guard and Teeter lost a yard on a dash around right end. McReynolds fumbled and recovered on his own 23 yard line. Daniels punted to Rochelle's 40 yard line. Rochelle was held and returned the punt to Dixon's 30 yard line. Teeter made 35 yards around right end and a spectacular sprint to Rochelle's 41 yard line. Daniels made one through center and McReynolds failed to gain. Draper intercepted a forward pass on his own 26 yard line. Cooper dashed off right tackle for a 24 yard advance. Draper made 11 more off right tackle. Dixon was penalized 15 yards for holding, the ball being brought to Dixon's 21 yard line. On the next play, Rochelle drew a 15 yard penalty for the same offense and as the half ended, Rochelle had possession of the ball on their own 32 yard line.

Fourth Quarter

On the first play Rochelle was penalized five yards for off side and punted to Dixon's 15 yard line. A 25 yard penalty was inflicted upon Rochelle for using their hands and on the next play Dixon was penalized a like yardage for rough playing. Rochelle broke through and blocked Daniels attempt to punt safely and scored a safety, adding two points to their score. Rochelle, 15; Dixon, 0.

The ball was brought back into play on the 20 yard line and Daniels punted. Rochelle was held and with Dixon in possession of the ball a series of passes were tried. The two first went wild, Dixon drawing a five yard penalty for an incomplete pass and Lazier stabbed the third one and carried it over for a tonchdown. Draper hit the line for the extra point. Rochelle, 22; Dixon, 0.

PADDY HARMON AND DEMPSEY IN BITTER RIVALRY

Strive to Outdo Other in Promotion Of Big Matches

Chicago, Oct. 19—(AP)—Promoters Paddy Harmon and Jack Dempsey are preparing considerable in the way of fistic entertainment for Chicago fans—not together, but apparently sparing no effort to outdo each other.

They will be flanked by 10-rounders between Sid Terris of New York and Tony Herrera, Mexican lightweight, and Louis "Kid" Kaplan, former featherweight champion and Eddie "Kid" Wolfe, New Orleans lightweight.

SPORT SLANTS

BY ALAN J. GOULD

The ring has known a flock of queer happenings but two of Jack Sharky's knockouts, with Jack Delaney and Tommy Loughran as the victims, rank among the most unusual.

It was extraordinary that in each case a light heavyweight champion was the victim of the Boston sailor, who himself has yet to clinch his claims to any title, however high he may rank now on the heavyweight list.

The one-round knockout of Delaney at Madison Squar Garden had an unpleasant aftermath with quite a few of the experts convinced that Delaney "led with his chin." Nevertheless for the few moments that the bout lasted Sharkey handed Delaney plenty.

These clever light heavyweights apparently do something to arouse the fighting blood of Sharkey for in knocking out Loughran in three rounds he bowled over an even smarter boxer than Delaney, perhaps the smartest in the ring, with a blow that landed on the chin or Tommy's temple or between the eyes, according to what side of the ring the expert was on.

effect was even more startling as Loughran arose at the count of five, walked gingerly along the ropes, his back toward Sharkey, until he reached a neutral corner, looking for all the world as if he was about to deliver a speech explaining to the customercs that the unpleasantness was just temporary and that everything soon would be all right.

"I have known stranger knockouts than that of Loughran," Jimmy Bronson, who handled Gene Tunney in both his fights with Dempsey, told me afterward. "I had a boxer in a semi-final once who was knocked out in a round. We went over to a club after the fight and after a little conversaf th- beng turned to me, looked at his watch and said: 'Jimmy, we got better be gettin' over to the arena. It's time for that fight I got tonight.' He had been knocked out and didn't remember it.

"I recall another fight in which Allentown Johnny Leonard, one of my boys, was knocked flat by Carl Duane in the first round. He was on his back, out cold, but in some manner his senses were partly restored by the impact of the knockdown timekeper's mallet with the ring floor.

"Still in a daze, he rolled over, barely staggred to his feet at the count of nine and then tore into Duane. When he came to the corner, he looked at me and said: 'I'm all right, Jimmy.'

"He had never called me anything but Mr. Bronson, so I knew something was wrong. It was Monday night and I asked him: 'Do you know what night this is?' He replied: 'Thursday.' I knew then he was out of his head but he went out, fought on by instinct and finally knocked Duane out in the fifth round."

Most any club that wins 102 ball games in a season has a right to figure that is good enough to win a pennant, but all it got for St. Paul this year was second place in the American Association. It happened that Kansas City won 111 as the Blues captured the flag by a margin of eight and a half games.

If there is a contest on for the tallest football lineman in the country, three of the entries can be Ladd of Yale, Davis, Virginia Poly tackle, and Paul Jessup, giant University of Washington center. All are at least 6 feet 6 inches, with Jessup taped at closer to 6 feet 7 inches.

The idea of having the football player numbered is fast becoming popular as it helps the crowd tell which player makes each play. The following list will help you keep track of your favorite player:

Whitnauer—15—Rt.
T. Lepperd—10—L. G.
W. Lepperd—18—L. T.
F. Shippert—1—R. F.
W. Shippert—13—L. H.
Meade—6—G. B.
Ottenghiem—14—R. H.
Hicks—11—F. B.
Haack—9—L. E.
Schneider—16—C.
Barton—3—R. G.

The local football fans were wild when the local team defeated the Morrison eleven 48-6. The Amboy team completely out-played the visitors in every phase of the game. The touchdowns were made by Bill Shippert 3, Ottenghiem 2 and Frank Shippert 2, and Hicks took it over for the six extra points that were made. The next game will be played on the local field next Friday, the opposing team being Mt. Morris Morrison defeated Mt. Morris a week ago by a score of 19-13, so we feel that the local team will stand a good chance to win this game also.

Clem Miller of near Lee Center was here on business Friday.

Andy Meyers who has been very ill, is much improved at this time

The home talent play which was to be given by the W. R. C. on October 25 has been postponed.

OBITUARY

DREWRY B. UHL

(Contributed)

Drewry Barker Uhl, son of John and Elizabeth Barker Uhl, was born in Nelson township, Lee Co., Illinois, June 5, 1856, and departed this life Oct. 14, 1929, aged 73 years, 4 months, and 10 days.

He spent all of his life in this locality, with the exception of eight years, which he lived in Benedict, Neb.

He followed the occupation of contractor, as painter and decorator, and in this avocation, with his genial disposition, acquired a host of friends, and was always found to have a deep interest, and affection for children. He was always ready to leand a helping hand where needed.

He was united in marrige to Miss Eva L. Clark, of Brant, Erie Co., New York, April 25, 1900, and has since made Dixon their home. He was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church, and attended faithfully as long as health would permit. Funeral services were conducted at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Wednesday at 2:30 P. M., Rev. L. W. Walter officiating.

He was also a member of the Elks lodge up to the time of his death. The services at the grave closed with the impressive service of the lodge.

He leaves to mourn his passing, his devoted wife, three brothers, Elmer of Dixon; Charles of Davenport, Iowa; and Silas of St. Louis. Also four nephews and one niece.

BROKEN TIES

"That man wants me to lend him some money. Do you know anything about him?

"Why, I know him as well as I know you. Don't lend him a dollar old man."—Tit-Bits.

cross fences

Successful farmers say that farms should really be cross fenced, hog-tight, into 20 acre fields. This way you can hog down, save fallen grain, green feed and missed corn, rotate crops, etc.

Some farmers even go so far as to say that the waste feed on the average farm, if saved, will pay the fencing bill in one to three years.

With "Red Strand" you can make cross fences soon pay for themselves and have many years of extra profit left at no expense to you. Copper content wires resist rust longest. An extra heavy covering of zinc guarantees long wear. Costs less because it lasts longer. See us for prices.

WHAT quirk of nature makes Sammy Snail and Tommy Turtle pick out the "thru-traffic" streets to crawl along? Doesn't it simply slay you to watch these "Street Hogs on parade," especially when your motor is all pepped up and rarin' to go with a tank-full of—

PARCO ETHYL GASOLINE

Of course there is this to be considered. Parco Ethyl makes your car so much faster that the average motorist seems slower in comparison. By smoothing the knocks and consequent vibration out of your motor Parco Ethyl glides you along at a thirty- or forty-mile clip more easily and quietly than you could do twenty before. Yes sir; it's a marvelous motor fuel.

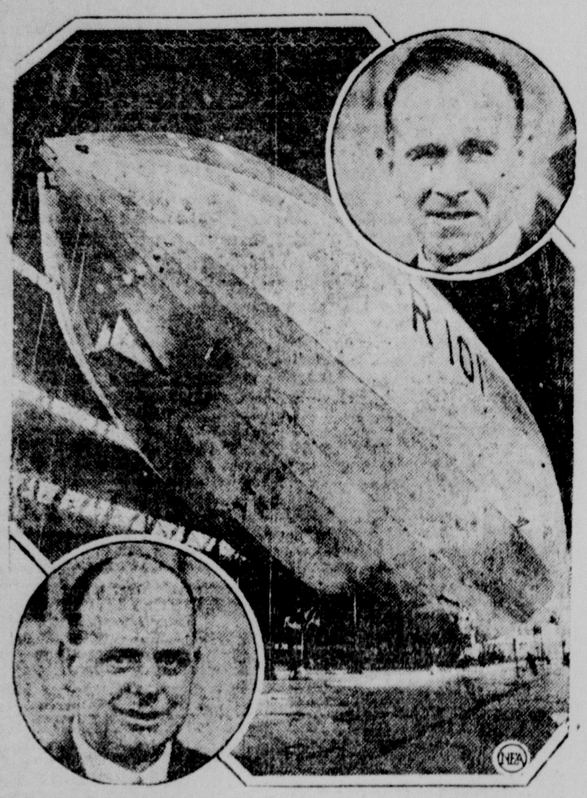
R-101, a Success at Last, is Most Luxurious Air Liner



It flies! That's Britain's answer to the criticisms of aeronautical experts who declared the R-101, largest dirigible in the world, already obsolete. From Cardington, England, where it was built, the huge ship was taken on several successful test flights ,and here you see it moored in its hangar. Inset upper right is Navigation Officer E. L. Johnson, and lower left is Major Scott, commander, who maneuvered the craft with a full crew. With its full quota of 52 passengers, the R-101 is expected to cruise at about 70 miles an hour.

Most luxurious of all aircraft is the R-101, new British sky-liner, now being tested in flight, and here are two views of its spacious "upper deck," really the second floor of the interior. A corner of the perfectly appointed dining room is pictured at the top; below is the lounge, artistically decorated, where dances can be held. Passenger cabins and a promenade also are on this level. Below are the control, wireless, and smoking rooms, kitchen and quarters for the crew.

In Mexico's Presidential Race

NEA Mexico City Bureau

This shows a demonstration given by supporters of Jose Vasconcelos, right, anti-administration candidate for the presidency of Mexico, as Vasconcelos arrived in Juarez recently. A seventh attempt to take Vasconcelos' life was made while he was en route to Juarez, enemies burning a bridge over which his train passed. The top picture shows that Mexicans take their politics quite enthusiastically.

SAM IS MACSAM NOW

GLASCOW— Statistics compiled here and in the United States reveal that Scotsmen have so migrated to the United States that there are said to be more Scots in Detroit than there are in this city, and that in some places in the United States, Rhode Island, for instance, the territory is so Scottish that most of the streets and public buildings bear Scotch names.

IT ALL DEPENDS

THIS HAS HAPPENED

HELEN PAGE feels indebted to and in love with her guardian, LEONARD BRENT who changes his plans for her future after meeting a dying beggar named NELLIN. At 18, he presents the girl to a millionaire, CYRIL CUNNINGHAM, as his heiress and offers proof which the lonely old man accepts without question, as he has been searching for his dead daughter's child for years.

Among Helen's new friends are EVA ENNIS and her brother ROBERT. Brent finds another locket like the one he had taken from Nellin to prove Helen the heiress and plots to get Cunningham out of the way quickly. He slyly administers a shock which proves fatal and the servants find the old man dead in bed. Then he wins Helen's promise to marry him. Later she and Bob realize they love each other, but she tells him she is engaged. She tries to get Brent to release her, but he refuses and makes dire threats if she dares to marry Bob.

Eva resents Helen's treatment of her brother, which has driven him to flirting with SHALLIMAR MORRIS. She scolds Bob, and he tells her Helen is engaged to Brent. She collapses after admitting that Brent has been making love to her. Bob goes to expose Brent to Helen, and while they are explaining to each other an urgent call comes from his mother. They rush over just in time to prevent Eva from taking poison in a fit of hysteria.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLI

HELEN went up the stairs on reluctant feet. She dreaded this talk with Eva, for there was nothing she could say to her that would carry hope to the unhappy girl.

Brent was a scoundrel—that was all there was to the matter. But Helen knew that love cannot be torn out of the heart by the roots. It must die a lingering death when it perishes.

She found Eva quiet, lying with a dampened towel on her forehead. The odor of witchhazel came faintly to Helen's nostrils as she leaned over the bed and took one of Eva's hands.

"Sit down—here," Eva said and moved to make room for Helen beside her.

"How do you feel?" Helen asked.

Eva closed her eyes and shook her head. "Poor mother," she whispered. Then, louder: "Oh, Helen, how awful it was for her! I didn't know what I was doing. In here with . . . with that stuff and mother pleading outside my door. I don't know how I could have done such a thing."

"Thank God you didn't really do it, dear," Helen said.

Eva's eyes flashed open and Helen drew back from sight of the misery in their depths.

"But I want to die! I don't want to live!" Eva cried.

"None of us do, at times," Helen answered, speaking very gently; "but we don't quit when we think of those who will suffer for our act. You see, Eva darling, what it would mean to your mother—and Bob—if you gave way to your despair."

"Yes, I know, I know," Eva moaned; "but what am I to do?"

"You don't think any man is worth the heartbreak of your entire family, do you?" Helen pressed.

"No, no, they're too good. They've always been too good to me."

"Then show them now that you appreciate their love. Try to forget Leonard Brent. He's no more worth your thought than a . . . than a viper, Eva."

EVA looked at her despairingly. "That has never mattered very much to women, has it?" she asked. "I love him, and I can't believe that he didn't care at all for me. Oh, I know I can't have him," she wailed abruptly; "but don't tell me that it's all because he is a liar and a cheat. There must be some other reason."

Helen's cheeks flushed uncomfortably as she answered that there might be another girl.

Eva's expression grew accusing though she did not mean it to.

"Was it you?" she asked, and then added quickly: "Bob thought it was."

Helen hesitated a long moment before answering. Eva's evidence of painful suspense brought the truth from her at last.

"Yes," she admitted, "I was engaged to him, Eva. But he did not love me. He can't love anyone. He isn't capable of it. He's the most selfish—"

"Then it was your money?" Eva interrupted.

Helen regarded her in complete surprise. Strangely, she thought, this had never occurred to her. Her money! Of course!

"I think so," she cried. "He would be just that vile."

"Perhaps," Eva said, "he needs a great deal of money, Helen."

She had found this explanation of his conduct less difficult to bear than the thought that he cared more for another girl than he did for her. And her complete obsession with her passion for Brent was driving her to his defense.

"Don't be a fool," Helen retorted a bit impatiently. "He has enough money. Only greed could make him want to marry for more—greed and a heart like a block of ice."

"You seem to hate him," Eva remarked, and the thought at the back of her mind was that Helen too must have suffered through Brent.

"Not on my own account," Helen hastened to assure her, sensing, perhaps, what Eva was thinking. "But I shall always hate him for what he has done to you, Eva."

"Then you do not love him?" Eva's voice was filled with profound relief.

Helen said no in unmistakably negative accents. Eva grasped her hands and murmured an expression of thankfulness.

"Can't we talk about something else?" Helen urged. "Wouldn't you like to hear about Bob and me, Eva?"

She had not intended to bring her newly recovered happiness to Eva's attention at this time but suddenly she was sickened of speaking of Brent. She wanted to brush him aside, put him out of her own life and Eva's too.

"Have you made up?" Eva asked, heartening a little over the possibility of happiness coming to her dearly beloved brother.

"Made up?" Helen echoed. "We've made up so tight that nothing can come between us again."

"I'm glad," Eva said simply.

HELEN leaned over and kissed her, drawn by the wistful smile that hovered on her quivering lips.

"You must let yourself be happy too, dear," she said. "Think of your music now, and some day a real love will come to you. That sounds like empty comfort, I know, but it's true, if only you can believe it."

"I must see Leonard again," Eva shocked her by declaring.

"Oh no!"

"I must."

Helen sat stiffly upright. "Why?" she demanded, but Eva had no answer that she cared, or dared, to give.

"To tell him you're through with him?" Helen suggested hopefully.

Still Eva did not answer. Helen was seized with a thought that stirred her to sharp utterance.

"Surely you are not going to throw yourself at him?" she cried. "Why, Eva dear, don't you realize that if he'd wanted you . . ."

"You . . . there was you," Eva said very low.

"Eva, please," Helen begged. "Don't you see, dear, that if it isn't me it will be someone else who can bring him what he wants?"

"He loves me, I know he loves me," Eva cried wildly. "He couldn't have lied so terribly to me."

Helen lost a great deal of her patience. "Now see here," she exclaimed, "you aren't going to have anything more to do with Leonard Brent. Bob will kill him. He has made a fool of you, Eva, but that was because you are sweet and good. He couldn't have done it to a harder-hearted girl. That's the bitterness of it. If you'd been thinking only of yourself you couldn't have become interested in a man like Leonard—you'd have judged him by yourself. As it is, you see good in even the worst people. That may be because you are so clever, so talented, dear, that you can't recognize evil—perhaps it is genius. But, oh, Eva, please, whatever it is, Bob and I are going to help you now."

"I must see him," Eva persisted.

"No," Helen protested. "Let me see him for you. I will tell him whatever you wish me to say. Bob will be furious if you go to him."

Eva remained set in her determination. "Don't tell Bob," she pleaded. "It would only cause trouble, and I'm going to see Leonard whatever happens. I must give him a chance to explain."

"Eva," Helen said soberly, "why must you be like this? You were ready to give up your life—wasn't it because you knew Brent has deceived you? Nothing has changed that. What can you hope for now?"

EVA sat up higher on her pillows. "I will tell you," she conceded. "I couldn't bear the thought that he was going to marry you, Helen. I knew I should hate you, in spite of all that you have done for me. I didn't want to live, hating you and without Leonard's love."

"Oh my dear," Helen buried her face in her hands, but she could not hold back her sobs.

"If I see him, and tell him that I know about his engagement to you and that you are really going to marry Bob," Eva said breathlessly, "he may . . . he may . . ."

Helen lifted her head. The expression of her eyes stopped Eva from further words.

"Would you marry him after all this?" she asked scornfully.

Eva turned away.

A wave of heaviness swept over Helen. "I'm afraid," she said, "that you must find out for yourself how contemptible, how despicable, Leonard is."

She got up to go. Eva did not attempt to detain her. "Please send mama to me," she said and Helen nodded in silent assent.

Back with Bob she was profoundly affected by the strain of knowing that Eva might yet bring serious trouble upon herself and them.

"I'm tired," she said when Mrs. Ennis had gone upstairs. "Do you mind letting me go now, Bob? Eva doesn't need me, and I've something to do at home."

"My darling, I'll always mind letting you go," Bob smiled at her. "But I'll have to leave too. I'm no playboy, you know."

His eyes had ceased to smile with his lips. Helen knew by their seriousness that he meant to convey the thought to her that he would not depend upon her money for a living.

She lifted her lips for his kiss, thankful that he did not make an issue of that point at this particular moment. She wanted to forget herself and him and think only of Eva—to try to find a way to help her.

She drove back home alone, and on the way she reached a decision in regard to Leonard Brent. If everything else failed and she could not induce Eva to go away—to Italy to study, or to travel for a while wherever her fancy took her—she would buy Brent off.

Her lips curled in disdain as she rejected the thought that he might prefer Eva to money.

At home she went straight to the telephone and called his apartment. His Japanese servant answered and she said, peremptorily, that she must speak to Mr. Brent.

He did not keep her waiting long. "I want to see you about something very important," she said. "At once. Will you come up to Bramblewood?"

"As soon as possible," Brent assured her, and hung up.

"Well," he mused as he dressed. "I think we've come to the showdown."

SHE DEFIES LAW AND DYNAMITE TO SAVE POET'S HOME FROM WRECKERS

But Mrs. Tillie Hart Knows She Eventually will be Evicted and Then Down Will Come the House Where Clement Moore Wrote "The Night Before Christmas," Children's Favorite

BY GENE COHEN
NEA Service Writer

New York—When "the night before Christmas" arrives there will no longer be a shrine to the poet whose lilting Yuletide jingle has found itself among the immortals.

No shrine, that is, save in the piping voices and gay hearts of millions of children the world over, as they read the famous lines—"and all through the house not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse . . ."

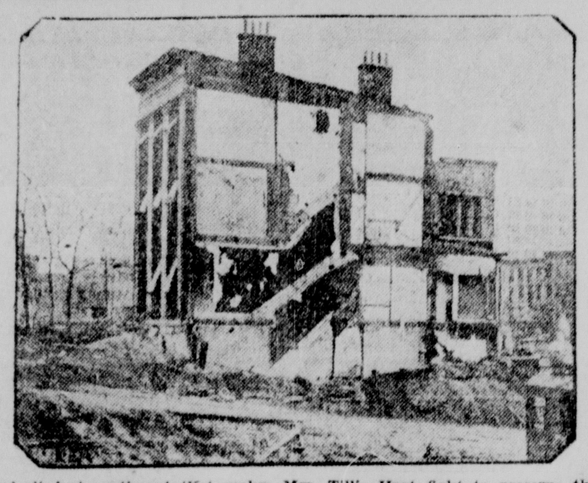
For these are the last days of a landmark in the Old Chelsea district of New York, dedicated to the memory of Clement Moore. It is a venerable three-story affair, quite slender and straight for its years—and it is more than a century old To mark it from a long row of similar architectural veterans, there has been painted in the oval window above the door, in fading gold letters, "The Clement Moore House."

Visitors Numerous

And many were the pilgrims who came from over the land and hunted it down in its out-of-the-way setting. Now and then the less timid would ring the bell and ask if they might look at the room in which Moore sat as he penned his rollicking, holiday verses . . .

"The stockings were hung by the window with care,
In hope that St. Nicholas soon would be there . . . ."

But in spite of the traditions which haunted the place, you can't blame Mrs. Tillie Hart if she doesn't believe in Santa Claus. Mrs. Hart has tried her best to save the landmark from the wreckers. She has been using every weapon and has undergone every privation in an effort to stick it out against an invading ormy of dredges and shovels



It isn't just sentiment that makes Mrs. Tillie Hart fight to preserve the century old Clement Moore house pictured above, where the poet once wrote "The Night Before Christmas." Mrs. Hart is fighting for her home, too, while wreckers and excavators are working all around her. She is shown at the right carrying water, which now must be brought from across the street.

She barricaded the house and issued defiance to those who had burrowed on thre esides of the famous old house to make way for a $25,000,000 skyscraper apartment house She retained lawyers and twice she succeeded in holding up the actual wrecking operations. But an eviction order hangs over her now.

A Fight for Tradition

As the invaders came closer and closer to the historic spot where she has operated a rooming house, Mrs Hart drew more and more into her fortress. All about the earth shook its rocky bowels as the dynamiters got to work. Her water pipes were cut off and it was necessary to go down the block with a pail to keep drinking water on hand. Heat, light and gas were threatened, sewerage was stopped, and Mrs. Hart's lodgers dwindled to a cousin and a couple of his friends. The latter have determined to stick it out with Mrs. Hart and battle for tradition to the end.

For several days there was something of the pioneer struggle against invasion, and something of the colorful old squatter feuds in the heart of New York. The final blow came in the form of a city condemnation of the property, with court actions which are not likely to bring more than momentary delay.

Moore Owned Whole Block

And, barricaded behind locked doors, Mrs. Hart can merely sigh and say, "Well, I put up a fight! You see, all of the property on this block once belonged to Mr. Moore, though this was his home and here he wrote 'Twas the Night Before Christmas.'

"After he died his widow sold all these places. I got this on a second lease, and I made my fight on the ground that the lease did not run out until June."

But, when Christmas comes there will be a giant skyscraper rising there, and "The Clement Moore House" will be gone.

And there will be a large number of new converts to the idea that "there ain't no Santa Claus."

THINKS WIFE KIDNAPPED

Chicago, Oct. 18. (AP)—In the belief they have been kidnapped Dr. Alphonse Carfora, prominent Italian physician, today appealed to the State's Attorney for aid in finding his wife, Rosa, and two small daughters who he said have been missing since Oct 10.

Dr. Carfora, a brother of Bishop C. H. Carfora of Chicago, said his family was missing when he arrived home the night of Oct. 10. He at first thought they perhaps were visiting friends or relatives but he has been unable to find any trace of them. He said he believed they had been kidnapped but said he had received no extortion letters or anything to indicate they were being held captives.

The physician was a Lieutenant in the Italian Army during the World War.
